

Name _____

Anthropology and Entomology Vocabulary

Across

- 5. Process of laying eggs
- 10. Firm, flexible material that forms the ears and nose
- 11. Hard, whitish tissue making up the skeleton
- 13. Insect that often arrives within minutes of the death of an animal

Down

- 1. A complete change in form and often habits of an animal during its development
- 2. Phylum of invertebrate animals that includes insects
- 3. A phase between two periods of molting in the development of an insect larva
- 4. Study of insects
- 6. The process of decay or rotting of a body or other organic matter
- 7. Class of arthropods having three body sections and 6 legs
- 8. Study of humans to include analysis of skeletal remains to determine the identity of a victim as well as his/her life history, cause of death, or other clues about a crime
- 9. Stage of the life cycle of an insect following the egg
- 12. The time between death and the discovery of the body
- 13. A university research facility to investigate human decomposition under various conditions in order to understand the factors which affect its rate.